BIRD JOURNEYS.

Animale Often Travel on the Backs of Large Oncs.

It has often been asked how small and weak birds manage to fly such As a rule, however, small birds that have come very far across the sea here not flown, but have been blown over during violent gales, and many of bem arrive on land in a half dead

In fair weather small birds make long journeys successfully over conrable tracts of ocean, but the reason is that they are carried on the backs of the larger ones. When passing an autumn in Crete a writer asserts that he distinctly heard the twittering of small birds when flocks of and cranes were passing overhead on heir way to southern shores. On another occasion, when firing a gun, he new three small birds rise from the Sock and disappear again among the ance. A native priest assured him that they came over from Europe with them, while it has been found hat small birds, never before seen in certain parts, have been brought thither at times of migration.

Another cause is that small birds do set make their journeys in one flight. They generally rest during the day. searching for food, and thus proceed to their destination by easy stages.

THE PEARL WORKERS.

Bothlehom Industry Which Is Five ndred Years Old.

The chief industry of Bethlebem of Judaea is that of the mother-of-pearl

The shells are brought from the Red sea and in the bands of native artisans are bolished and carved, the larger into elaborate designs. The smaller are cut up for reseries and crosses. The work is all done by hand, and the methods are amazingly primitive to a spectator from the home of steam and electric power. But the results are extraordinary. The largest shell we saw was carved in seemes from the birth of Christ, the agony in the garden and the crucifizion, and had the general effect of delicate frostwork. Under the magnifying glass every detail was seen to be perfect in outline and in finish. It was exucuted to order for a wealthy American and was to cost $160.

About 160 people make a living by this industry, which is 500 years old. In the shops the workmen sit upon the floor, their benches in front of them. The air is full of whitish dust, and the light admitted by the single window and the open door is so dim that the exquisite tracery of the wrought shells is a mystery even before the visitor notes how few, simple and crude are the instruments employed. - Marion Harland in Lippincott's.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Best Made.

"In my opinion Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best made for colds," cays Mrs. Cora Walker of Porterville, quiebly. No other is so sure a preventive of pneumonia. No other is so pleasant and safe to take. These are good reasons why it should be preferred to any other. The fact is that few people are satisfied with any other after having once used this remedy. Boot Dogs of New York. There are dogs in New York that never set foot on the street. They belong to the janitors in the downtown buffdings, and their runways consist of the roofs of the buildings in which their owners live and adjoining roofs on the same level. That is a rare day when the office worker on looking out of the sixteenth story window does not see half a dozen dogs romping about upon the roofs beneath him. There is one advantage at least in being a roof dog-the dog catcher has no terrors for him.

Stomach Troubles and Constipation

"Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are the best thing for stomach troubles and constipation I have ever so'd," says J. R. Cullman, a druggist of Potterville, Mich. "They are easy to take and always give satisfaction. I tell my customers to try them and if 'ry, "we are engaged"their money, but have never had a reply as she sauggled up - Houston complaint." THE CALM BAD MAN.

He Is More Dangerous Than the One Who blusters.

The oad man of genuine sort rarely looked the part assigned to him in the nous distances when migrating. popular imagination. The long haired blusterer, adorned with a dialect that never was spoken, serves very well in eastern fiction about the west, but that is not the real thing. The most dangerous man was apt to be quiet and smooth spoken. When an antagonist blustered and threatened, the most dangerous bad man only felt rising in his own soul, keen and stern, that strange exultation which often comes with combat for the man naturally brave. A western officer of established reputation once said to me while speaking of a personal difficulty into which he had been forced: "I hadn't been in anything of that sort for years, and I wished I was out of it. Then I said to myself. 'Is it true that you are getting old and have lost your nerve? Then all at once the old feeling came over me, and I was just like I used to be. I felt calm and happy, and I laughed after that. I jerked my gun and shoved it into his stomach. He put up his hands and apologized. 'I will give you a bundred dollars now.' he said, 'if you will tell me where you got that gun.' I suppose I was a trifle quick for him."-St. Louis Post-Dispatch.
